Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 15-17, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cordo.

Cordo discloses a frame (fig. 1); at least one limb support assembly supported on said frame (fig. 1), said limb support assembly comprising a plurality of limb support sections which are joined one attached to the other to support multiple sections of a patient's limb along the length of the limb between the limb joints (fig. 1), said limb support sections being joined one to the other by a pivot connection (fig. 1), wherein each said pivot connection corresponds to a limb joint, said limb support assembly further including a drive unit associated with each pivot connection to effect articulation of one limb support section relative to an adjacent said limb support section for articulating the limb joint associated therewith (col. 10, lines 35 – et seq.); and a control unit operably connected to the drive units for independently or simultaneously operating said drive units to effect controlled manipulation of the limb support sections about the pivot connections (col. 10, lines 35 – et seq.).

As for claims 16, 17, 19, 20, Cordo discloses said pivot connections correspond to a shoulder joint (col. 7, lines 66 – et seq.), an elbow joint and a wrist joint of a limb and effect articulation about at least one pivot axis for each said limb joint (col. 7, lines 66 – et seq), said pivot connection associated with said shoulder joint permits movement of an upper one of said limb support section about a plurality of pivot axes (col. 2, lines 45-49), one said limb support section comprises an intermediate limb support section which is pivotally connected to a distal end of said upper arm section and defines a vertical elbow pivot axis (fig. 2), a wrist support section which is pivotally connected to said intermediate support section by the associated pivot connection which said associated pivot connection defines a horizontal pivot axis extending sidewardly and a horizontal pivot axis extending longitudinally along the wrist (fig. 2).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-14 are allowed

Claim 18 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Gow discloses an upper limb prosthesis.

Rahman et al disclose an orthosis device.

Saringer et al disclose a continuous passive motion device for joints.
